

Aerial – voiceover transcript

28.25 hg

Thickening cloud over the whole of the country, gradually developing into moderate or even heavy rain in some areas. Later on the rain may become lighter, but the weather remains cloudy with overcast skies. Unsettled weather, with heavy rain possible in some areas

28.5hg

After a dry start, it will become cloudy with heavy rain spreading to other areas and significantly cooler over higher grounds. Cloudy elsewhere, with occasional drizzle or light showers, but brighter spells in some places. Rather cloudy, some patchy fog and drizzle, and only brief bright spells.

28.75hg

Mostly cloudy today with only brief bright spells. Mainly dry but some patchy drizzle possible. Tonight it will stay cloudy in most areas, again with some drizzle in places and becoming generally misty again. Mostly cloudy but sunny intervals developing in a few places.

29hg

Cloudy and dry in most areas but elsewhere, occasional drizzle or light showers are likely, clearing to the west. Brighter spells possible in some places, but generally an overcast day with outbreaks of rain. Drizzly rain in central areas with patchy rain elsewhere. Other areas dry but cloudy.

29.25hg

Another rather cloudy day with light winds and local drizzle. A bright start but cloud and rain will move in later in the day. Winds will be fresh, bringing light rain to some areas with generally overcast skies across the country. Tonight, likely to be mild, windy and damp.

29.5hg

Sunny intervals throughout the day but cloud developing in some places. Bright spells will develop throughout the day, which will be mainly dry and mild. Cloudy and overcast skies may develop in some areas with light and infrequent showers possible, although these will clear later in the day.

29.75hg

A dryer day, although overcast skies in places will make it feel cooler, especially near the coast. Sunny intervals may break through the clouds later in the day, making it warmer in some areas. Dry with sunny spells and patchy cloud.

30 hg

A dryer and brighter day bringing clearer weather to most parts. Longer sunny spells than previously will make it mild for the time of year, but the odd shower may break through in eastern areas. Brighter, clearer weather across the country. Mostly dry with some sunshine.

30.25hg

Any early mist will clear to leave bright spells, with sunshine breaking through in many areas. It will stay dry in most places, with clearer skies, but a risk of light rain later on. Bright spells, and staying dry in most places.

30.5hg

A dry and bright day across the country, feeling milder and more settled, especially in coastal areas. Light winds over higher grounds will keep the temperature moderate, but overall a calm and cloudless day. Settled and cloudless, with clear skies. Light winds in places.